

FIRST CAPITAL OF SECESSION

Welcomes President With Every Demonstration of Gratification.

PRESENTS HIM GOLD MEDAL

Makes His Address From a Platform Only Few Feet From Where

JEFF DAVIS WAS INAUGURATED

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 24.—Returning from Tuskegee, where he is located the famous Normal and Industrial Institute for negroes and of which Booker Washington is the more famous principal, the presidential train arrived here at noon. The president will deliver an address and at 5 o'clock is scheduled to reach Birmingham. At 6:45 he will leave that city for Little Rock.

MONTGOMERY PAYS HER RESPECTS TO CHIEF RULER

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 24.—Ever since yesterday, thousands of people from the surrounding districts began to pour into the city, eager to see and welcome President Roosevelt on his first visit to Montgomery. The hotels are crowded and there is more life and bustle in the streets than ever before in the collection of the "oldest inhabitant." During the forenoon the last touches were put on the arrangements for the reception to the president, and when the hour of his arrival came, everything was in readiness and order.

A battery of the Montgomery Field Artillery, stationed on the river bank, fired the first shot of a national salute of 21 guns, when the special train, bearing President Roosevelt and his party, rolled into the station at 12 o'clock, this noon. The president was enthusiastically cheered by the enormous multitude surrounding the station, when he stepped off the train, and was welcomed by Governor Jelks and the members of the governor's staff, who were dressed in full uniform. After having shaken hands with the governor, President Roosevelt exchanged greetings with Mayor W. M. Teague, who was assisted by a reception committee of fifty prominent citizens, the members of the city council, the directors of the Commercial and industrial associations and others.

The president and his party were escorted to their carriages and driven to the state capitol, along Commerce street and Dexter avenue. Governor Jelks rode with the president in the first carriage, which was surrounded by a mounted escort of citizens and members of the militia. The buildings along the route were handsomely decorated with flags and bunting and presented a bright and cheerful picture. When the head of the line of carriages reached the capitol, the president, escorted by the governor, the mayor and other officials, took a seat on the grand stand, which had been built out from the west portion of the capitol building, and the others as well as the invited guests, occupied the remaining spaces on the platform. From that point of vantage the president reviewed the parade, which was headed by a platoon of mounted patrolmen and was led by the chief marshal and his brilliantly uniformed staff, the reception committee, the Montgomery City Band, the various Montgomery militia organizations and the visiting military companies.

After the parade had passed in review, Mayor Teague formally welcomed the president to the city in a well chosen address. Then Governor Jelks introduced President Roosevelt, who delivered an address to the large crowd filling every available inch of space in front of the platform. His address was well received and frequently interrupted by cheers and applause. After the address, President Roosevelt was escorted back to his train and at 2 o'clock left for Birmingham.

WHAT BIRMINGHAM TODAY EXPECTS TO DO AND SEE

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 24.—The special train with President Roosevelt and his party on board will arrive here according to schedule, at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and everything is in readiness for his reception and entertainment. Upon his arrival, the president will be received by a special committee, headed by Mayor Ward. The mayor will welcome the president in a brief address and will present him with a handsome gold medal, struck in honor of the president's visit to this city. Then President Roosevelt will deliver an address to the reception committee, which will take carriages and drive along Twentieth street to the capitol park, where the reviewing and speaking stand has been erected. All buildings on that street are handsomely decorated with flags and bunting. The platform from which the president will review the civic and military parade, has been erected in front of the recently erected monument to the Confederate soldiers and sailors. One thousand school children, each bearing a small American flag, will assemble in front of the platform and sing national songs. The Jefferson County Choral society will also sing several numbers. Rufus N. Rhoads will address the president, welcoming him to the city, and President Roosevelt will deliver an address to the assembled people. The president will leave in his special train shortly after 6 o'clock.

OLD CHURCH WITH MUCH HISTORY

Celebrates its Centennial, More Than Half Being Under One Pastor.

ACTUAL LIFE OF TWO CENTURIES

New York, Oct. 24.—Today is the one hundredth anniversary of the consecration of St. Paul's Episcopal church, at East Chester, near Mount Vernon. The event will be celebrated in an appropriate manner and many distinguished clergymen of the Episcopal church from all parts of the state and even from some other states are here to take part in the special services this evening.

It was in 1709 that the first church of East Chester was erected, and in 1764 a new church was built. In 1776 the old church was torn down and the wood used as fuel in the new church, which was then used as a British hospital. The church first took its name as St. Paul's in 1784, when it was incorporated under the Episcopal church act.

Among those expected to attend in connection with the case of the French war; Major George W. Provost, of the British army; Philip Pell, judge advocate of the American army, and Major Samuel Pell.

HON. ALEX BOWIE IS ASSAULTED BY TRAIN PORTER

President of Caledonian Coal Company Received Serious Injuries at Local Station Last Night.

The unprovoked attack of a negro porter on train No. 1 last night, upon Hon. Alex. Bowie, of Gallup, has caused great indignation both here and at Gallup, which is the next division point on the Santa Fe west of this city.

That it was another case of a too pompous train porter is quite evident, and those who are responsible should be meted out the most severe punishment possible in such a case.

Mr. Bowie, who is president of the Caledonian Coal company of McKinley county, was leaving for his home after having been in the city on business in connection with the case of the Caledonian Coal company against the Santa Fe for alleged rate discriminations, for which a large damage suit is now before the local court.

He had been detained until almost train time by business, and reached the depot just as the train was leaving, as he thought, for it was moving.

He carried an unwieldy case full of maps of the Caledonian Coal company's property, which had been offered as evidence in the suit above mentioned, and jumped on the moving train, with the exclamation, "Let me in."

The porter was standing in the vestibule of the car and according to an eye witness, he reached in his pocket, as if to get a pistol or a pair of knuckles, and then struck Mr. Bowie a terrific blow on the side of the head.

The blow staggered him and when he recovered, the porter had run.

It was some time before anybody could be found that knew who struck the blow and when this was found out the train was gone. A telegram was sent to Gallup to intercept and arrest the negro at Gallup. His name is said to be Ferguson.

May Have Used Knives.

On recovering from the shock of the blow, Mr. Bowie came over from the depot to the city and went to the drug store of S. Vann & Son, corner of Gold avenue and Second street, where Dr. E. B. Kilgore dressed the wound. The flesh above the left eye was laid open, and the left side of the face and head was badly bruised, as though it had been hit with some instrument with knobs on it. Dr. Kilgore said that he does not think that such a wound could have been made with the bare fist.

Mr. Bowie left for Gallup on train No. 7, which left the city about midnight. Train No. 1 was about on time.
